Too great stress cannot be laid on the importance in business transactions of the instant communication afforded by the Wireless. Many an important deal has fallen through because of the long intervals between mails. Remember wireless is instantaneous.

Placing the large and commodious new steamship in the ranks of steamers bearing the overseas method of communication marks the initial installation of wireless telegraphy on the American-Hawaiian line.

C. P. Morse, the general agent for the American-Hawaiian Line at Honolulu before returning to the islands, paid a visit to the new steamer which is now under construction at the eastern shipyards. He inspected the new wireless quarters now fitted into the steamer. Mr. Morse was given to understand by the builders that the Honolulu would be fitted with as efficient apparatus as is to be found upon any liner now engaged in the Pacific trade.

It may be almost a year before the Honolulu is ready to commence her twenty-eight day schedule between San Francisco and Honolulu. It is the intention to operate this vessel strictly in the San Francisco-Honolulu service.

Mr. Morse states that the vessel's cabins will not only be commodious but will be supplied with all the latest and modern conveniences now demanded by a fastidious traveling public.

"There is no reason why millionaires should turn up their noses over the superior passenger accommodations that will be offered by our new vessel," declared Mr. Morse.

The Honolulu will have forty-five first class staterooms at the disposal of the traveler. The best that money can buy will be incorporated in the general scheme to make for the comfort and pleasure of the intending passenger. Arrangements will be made so that the cabins can be converted into large suits in order to accommodate those who desire exclusiveness.

While the other vessels now engaged in the Pacific Coast-Hawaiian service will be diverted to other island ports of call it is the intention to keep the Honolulu plying with the regularity of clockwork between Honolulu and San Francisco.

Treasurer Conking brought a quantity of new music from the East on his return to the islands and has presented it to the local band. After a little practice selections of up-to-date melody will be given to the public at the evening band concerts.

According to an interpretation of the postal laws, the county is liable to have a suit brought against it for sending a postal card through the open mails to private individuals with a statement printed thereon of the amount due for taxes, etc. This is considered a "dun" card and violates the postal laws.

This is the second day for the full force of Red Cross stamp sellers in the field. They are meeting with very fair success, but would like to see the stamps go a bit faster. School children are becoming interested and there have been calls from the various military establishments about the city.

One appeal to the business community is that in the future, with the establishment to be maintained by the Red Cross requests for temporary relief of individuals will cease. Then Honolulu is just now especially proud of the Municipal Spirit and to vindicate it should readily take up half a million of the stamps for use with holiday mail.

LEAL IS PAUL INSISTS JARRETT

Whatever action the Territorial Grand Jury may take in its consideration of the charges against Joseph Leal, the former Chief of Detectives, submitted by me, he will not be reinstated by me," was the declaration made by Sheriff Jarrett this afternoon.

"I discharged Leal from the detective bureau for what I believed to be the good of the service. The Grand Jury may look upon the evidence I have submitted before the body in an entirely different standpoint from that taken by me.

"I am firmly convinced that Leal has done some things unbecoming and unlawful for an officer of the law. I have gone into this case carefully and have weighed the evidence before formulating the list of charges which is now before the Territorial Grand Jury."

Sheriff Jarrett insists that he has not as yet tendered the vacated position of Chief of Detectives to any one of several possible candidates for the job.

The position has been paying $140 per month. There is no chance of a much larger increase being made in the police salary list and that feature may have a tendency to influence one or more applicants in their acceptance of the position.

"I have one person in view for the office of Chief of Detectives but at the present time it would not be advisable to divulge his name," said the Sheriff.

When asked if any member of the Advertiser's editorial staff was included in the eligible list, Sheriff Jarrett simply beamed one of his good natured smiles but refused to commit himself one way or the other. It is understood that the present salary attached to the office of chief of detectives is not sufficiently tempting to either A. Taylor or E. P. Irwin of the morning paper.

Herman Dinklage, a popular member of the inspector's staff at the local customs, who has seen long and faithful service, is going to revisit his old stamping ground down along the Mexican coast. Dinklage will take a much deserved vacation and expects to sail for San Francisco by the transport Thomas. He will then journey to Mexico, where he has extensive business interests. The last time that the customs official visited some of the more pretentious Mexican ports he was feted like a king until that bestowed upon the crowned heads. At his departure two lusty Mexican brass bands participated in the boisterousness of leave-taking. "Dink" feels confident of an outpouring of the Mexican masses at his second appearance in the domain of President Diaz.

THE SECOND vessel in the new twelve-day schedule now to be maintained by the American-Hawaiian line in the movement of the big Hawaiian sugar crop via the Tehuantepec route will be the steamer Arizona, which is expected to arrive at Honolulu on Saturday. The Arizona is coming down from Puget Sound ports and is bringing a large general cargo from New York, San Francisco and Seattle and Tacoma. This vessel will arrive with freight consignments from New York by the steamer American, voyage 24, sailing from that port October 9, the steamer Luckenbach, voyage 15, leaving New York October 16.

THE STEAMER Virginian of the American-Hawaiian line is expected to sail from Puget Sound ports for Honolulu on December 14. This vessel is bringing out general lines of United States cargo.

A RADIO wireless telephone concern is advertising for bids for the erection of a tower in Seattle to the end of installing wireless apparatus on Puget Sound craft and coastwise yachts.

TWENTY-EIGHT days from New-Castle, N. S. W., the freighter Asgard, flying the German flag, has arrived at Kahului with a shipment of Australian coal.

THE ARRIVAL of the American oil steamer Santa Rita at Port San Luis is noted in the late cables. This vessel sailed from Honolulu on November 18 and arrived at the oil port on Sunday.

THE JAPANESE steamship Kishikawa Maru has been sunk in a hurricane, all of her crew having lost their lives. Twenty-five bodies have been recovered according to a cable from Shimonoeki, Japan.

THE SCHOONER James H. Bruce is reported to have made the trip from the Hawaiian Islands to San Francisco in eighteen days. According to cables received here the schooner arrived at the Golden Gate city on December 1st.

WATERFRONT NOTES

THERE WILL be over twelve thousand tons of sugar as well as a large shipment of pineapples and other Hawaiian products to leave the Hawaiian Islands for the Pacific Coast by the American-Hawaiian liner Alaskan, which is now at Hilo discharging general cargo. The departure of the Alaskan is scheduled for the eighteenth of this month and it is believed that her last port of call will be at Kahului. The Alaskan will be the initial steamer in the service maintained by six large freighters which will participate in the transportation of the large sugar crop. Another steamer will follow twelve days later than the Alaskan which is due at Honolulu Saturday.

IN ADDITION to a full cabin passenger list, the inter-island steamer Claudine, arriving from Hawaii and Maui ports this morning, brought 30 on deck and a consignment of freight including 50 cords wood, 61 sacks corn, 10 barrels wine, 234 packages sundries and a shipment of 19 hogs. The vessel encountered northerly swells accompanied by some rain on the inward voyage.

THE AMERICAN schooner Kona, about forty days from Port Ludlow with a shipment of lumber consigned to H. Hackfeld & Co., is reported to have arrived at Hilo by the steamer Claudine, which returned this morning from the Big Island. The schooner W. H. Marston is still at Hilo taking on a shipment of railway ties intended for the California coast.

IT IS BELIEVED that the British oil tanker which called in at this port yesterday with a shipment of fuel oil from South America destined for Japan, will complete her charter with the present trip to the Orient. The vessel is a fine type of freighter for the carrying of oil. She is a large vessel and has not been in commission a great length of time.

THE AMERICAN-HAWAIIAN liner Nevada is scheduled to sail from San Francisco for Honolulu direct on December 13. This vessel has first class passenger accommodation for a dozen people. The Nevada is due to arrive here on or about the 21st of the month and it is understood that the vessel is bringing a large general cargo.

THE MATSON Navigation steamer Hyades and the German freighter Asgard are reported at the harbor of Kahului by the steamer Claudine, which arrived at Honolulu this morning. The Hyades is taking on a shipment of sugar for the coast while the German vessel is discharging a consignment of Australian coal brought from the Newcastle, N. S. W., coal mines.

THERE IS a possibility of the United States army transport Thomas not arriving at this port en route to San Francisco before Sunday morning. The vessel sailed from Manila on November 14, with casuals and civil service employees of the Insular Government in the Philippines. The Thomas will take several passengers from Honolulu, bound for the coast.

IT IS REPORTED that the Toyo Kisen Kaisha liner Tenyo Maru is bringing at least one thousand tons of Oriental freight for Honolulu. The vessel sailed from Yokohama yesterday and should arrive here on or about December 10.

THE BRITISH ship Celtic Chief, which is understood to be bringing a shipment of fertilizer consigned to the Hawaiian Fertilizing Company, is out one hundred and thirty-six days from Hamburg.

THE JAPANESE steamship Kishikawa Maru has been sunk in a hurricane, all of her crew having lost their lives. Twenty-five bodies have been recovered according to a cable from Shimonoeki, Japan.

SEES NATIVE HULA IN NEW LIGHT

"Unwritten Literature of Hawaii" is the title of a very interesting and most instructive volume from the pen of Dr. N. B. Emerson that has just been published by the Bureau of American Ethnology of the Smithsonian Institute at Washington.

This is the work on which Dr. Emerson has been engaged for years, and contains the result of the most painstaking research that has ever been devoted to the old life of Hawaii. The volume has to do with the history of the sacred songs of the Hawaiian hula. Dr. Emerson sees the hula in an entirely new light, as compared with the popular idea of the present, and a casual glance at the volume shows that he has brought into his study of the hula and the songs of ancient Hawaii a tremendous amount of general information that gives a liberal education on the old life of the Hawaiian people.

The volume is published by the United States government, which establishes its worth from a scientific standpoint, and it is prepared in a style that makes the study of the hula as interesting as a romance.

The price is $5 per volume and may be had on application to Dr. Emerson. No library on Hawaii is complete without it, and the visitor to Hawaii will find the volume a very acceptable one for getting the true story of Hawaii.

WAILUA GOES UP ALSO HAW'N. COM'L.

Wailua at 123 and Hawaiian Commercial at 37.50 were the advances scheduled on the stock board today that tell of the trend of the market. Both these figures are records for these stocks, and there is no indication that the price will go lower this season.

Oahu Sugar advanced yesterday afternoon, over two hundred shares selling at 32.87 1/2. McIryde is still strong at 6.50, and Olan holds at 6.25. Honokaa recovered today to 20.

It can be seen that the market is strong. So far as trading is concerned, the crowd is waiting to hear the result from the trip of the Alexander & Baldwin party to McIryde. It is very improbable that any authentic information will be received previous to the return of the party to Honolulu. The final action will be taken by the directors in this city.

PORTUGUESE IMMIGRANTS TO CHANNEL WHARF
Some alterations are being made at the channel wharf preparatory to the arrival of several hundred Portuguese immigrants which are expected to reach Honolulu on or about Dec. 10 by the British steamship Swanley. A large number of bunks are being built at the shed for the accommodation of the immigrants.

THOMAS CAN TAKE TWENTY PASSENGERS
There is first-class passenger
